We are Living in Unprecedented Times

"This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come" 2 Timothy 3:1.

We are living in unconventional times. Wars, genocide, disasters, violence, corruption, chaos and fires are breaking out unexpectedly all over the world. In the Congo, they are experiencing wave after wave of ethnic violence as people are being massacred. Gangs of men are attacking and killing their rivals with machetes at night while their victims are sleeping. 60,000 people have been displaced and thousands more have been killed due to the violence. <sup>1</sup>

But this unprecedented period of crisis is also sweeping the entire world as political and social tensions are escalating everywhere. Here in America tensions are boiling between the White House, the US Congress and our intelligence agencies. Accusations of corruption and finger-pointing are pushing our nation to high levels of anxiety and stress. The whole world is on edge as they watch the daily drama being played-out.

Even if we are blessed with a short period of peace, the next catastrophe and disaster is lurking around the corner. It seems there are tragic events waiting to happen with the next one coming in just a matter of days and weeks. As the Bible says, we are living in "perilous times." They are not coming; they are already here. Long-term periods of peace and harmony have now become almost non-existent throughout society - even within the church.

The "perilous times" described in Scripture is for both the world and the church. The faith is being corrupted as our teachings become more secular. Decided steps must be taken by the faithful to preserve its purity. We cannot allow God's work to become paralyzed just because many refuse to remain faithful to the gospel message.

"Woe to the inhabitants of the earth and of the sea! for the devil is come down unto you, having great wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a short time" Revelation 12:12.

The very thought of a coming defeat to sin only enrages the devil to attack God's people with greater determination. This is what we are contending with and seeing today. This verse describes the work that the devil is doing in our world.

The gospel with its saving truth is not going to reach the world automatically without a fierce battle. Good is not going to effortlessly triumph over evil. The church is not going to magically cleanse itself of all worldliness. We have to contend for the faith (Jude 1:3). God's people must take a stand and resist the evil found both in the world and in the church. This is not an easy work because truth is a threat to many. Truth is a threat to some who are in positions of authority and they will resist any effort to conform to the truth.

This is a time for God's people to rise and shine and move forward with the final invitation of mercy to the world in spite of the challenges. The present crisis and disasters we are seeing are opportunities to reach souls for Christ's kingdom. People see what is happening and they are searching for answers - answers that we have.

The answers to the calamities in our world are related to the fact that men and women have rejected the truths found in Revelation 14:6-12. This is what God's word reveals. We need to let the world know this truth - one soul at a time.

These are the scenes described by prophecy that would exist on earth just prior to the second coming of Jesus. They are not coming; they are here! These will not be times of peace. The truth is, we are living in a time of war.

"The tempest is coming and we must get ready for its fury by having repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ. The Lord will arise to shake terribly the earth. We shall see troubles on all sides...The end is near, probation is closing. Oh, let us seek God while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near!" (Last Day Events, 24).

Update & Clarification on Our Newsletter: Rome's Reorientation of the Reformation

We have received many responses from around the world after our last newsletter was sent out. Seventh-day Adventists from Russia contacted us confirming that these events did take place. We were also made aware that this issue had been translated into Portuguese in its entirety and was being distributed throughout Brazil under another ministries name. (We were sad that someone took our name off before sending it to all their readers.)

President Ted Wilson has also responded by calling it "fake news" "a misrepresentation" and expressing that he was there to "share our obligation to proclaim the three angels' messages of Revelation 14." <sup>2</sup>

Other church members have contacted our office saying their church leaders have expressed that these photos were all photo shopped or fake and they questioned our sources. We must assure you, the images are not fake and they were not provided to us through any Seventh-day Adventist news source. Yes, there were leaders from many different churches and it was through these non-Adventist sources that the images were made available. The churches of Babylon are not ashamed of this event and they were boasting about the unity and fellowship that took place there.

If you only read the "official" version coming from Seventh-day Adventists you will never get the full story. You would never know that the Pope's representative was present at this event and called for closer working relations. If your only news source comes from the denomination you would never know what all the other churches were saying and doing. If you only go by President Ted Wilson's account of this meeting you would think that he was: (1) calling people to keep the Seventh-day Sabbath - 1st Angel's Message; (2) calling people to come out of Babylon - 2nd Angel's Message; (3) warning people against a coming Sunday law which when enforced will be the mark of the beast - 3rd Angel's Message - but this was not the case.

When we decided to publish a report on this event we looked at all the different sources to get the rest of the story. The evidence all points to what prophecy has already declared: the churches are coming together and Rome is working to undo the Protestant Reformation. All this has been predicted. Rome is calling upon all faiths to work together. One would expect Seventh-day Adventists to also espouse their views of the end-times in the public forum and in all these ecumenical, interfaith encounters as well. But this did not happen. It is a moral failure on our part to keep silent when we should be engaging people with truth, by pointing out the dangers that threaten God's people during these last days - namely the great lawless system of the Antichrist.

"Are we to wait until the fulfillment of the prophecies of the end before we say anything concerning them? Of what value will our words be then? Shall we wait until God's judgments fall upon the transgressor before we tell him how to avoid them? Where is our faith in the word of God?" (Testimonies, 9:20).

To keep silent or to leave people in the dark, especially during interfaith cooperation, is failing to share the 3 Angels' Messages. This will result in the loss of souls, including our own (Ezekiel 3:17, 18). Yes, we must treat all people with respect and dignity and be kind and courteous, but having a true love for others will compel us to proclaim the truth to them as well.

"The interests of the cause of present truth demand that those who profess to stand on the Lord's side shall bring into exercise all their powers to vindicate the advent message, the most important message that will ever come to the world" (Manuscript 125, 1907).

"But speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ" Ephesians 4:18.

"We are not to cringe and beg pardon of the world for telling them the truth: we should scorn concealment. Unfurl your colors to meet the cause of men and angels. Let it be understood that Seventh-day Adventists can make no compromise. In your opinions and faith there must not be the least appearance of waverings: the world has a right to know what to expect of us" (Evangelism, 179).

Hollywood's Continual War Against Family Values

Hollywood's LGBTQ agenda is at war with Judeo-Christian family values. There is a war and they are coming after our children. Hollywood is constantly attempting to reshape our culture into an image of itself. Consider the relentless attempts at social engineering as the movie industry attempts to convert our world into a homosexual paradise. For the first time in history the 2018 Oscars have been more representative of the LGBTQ community. Four notable films were celebrated at the 2018 Academy Awards that promoted LGBTQ diversity and equality.

"A Fantastic Woman" (man) won an Oscar

1. "Call Me By Your Name" won an Oscar for best adapted screen play.

This was a film about two men exploring a romantic relationship. They showed clips from the film of the two men kissing live on television as part of the program.

2. "A Fantastic Woman" won an Oscar for best foreign film. This film chronicled the life of a transgender woman who was born a man and showed the complexities of "her" relationships. Daniela Vega, the star of the film, also made history as "she" became the first transgender person to present an Academy Award.

3. "Lady Bird" was nominated for 5 different Oscar categories but didn't win any. In the film a young girl named Lady Bird finds out her boyfriend was gay when she walked in on him and another man kissing in a restroom. They continued being friends throughout the film.

4. "Strong Island" was nominated for an Oscar for best documentary but did not win. This film was directed by Yance Ford. "He" (born a she) became the first transgender director to be nominated for an Oscar.

The makers and promoters of popular culture are bent on destroying our children and our communities. A culture war has been declared and it looks as though we are losing. The films we are being exposed to are either promoting spiritualism, the occult, alternative views of sexuality and disdain, and they ridicule Christianity.

We are opening the doors of our homes and lives to a Hollywood culture that glorifies drugs, crime, murder, porn, prostitution and everything that is anti-family and anti-faith. All this is being done in the name of "diversity" and "openness."

The current decline is disappointing but not surprising. All of this was predicted in the Bible and we are seeing it come to pass. The violent culture of Noah and the sexual excesses of Sodom are here. Read Luke 17:26-30 and Matthew 24:37-39.

These growing trends will continue to engulf our world because these are two of the signs declaring that we are reaching the limits of God's mercy. The examples of Noah and Lot tell us that the same sins that brought the flood and the fire would be very much alive just before the Second Coming of Christ. When these sins become universal the Lord will reveal Himself. The parallels are evident.

Labor Unions in Europe Call For Action to Protect Sunday

On March 3, 2018, the European Confederation of Independent Trade Unions (CESI), a confederation of 38 trade union organizations from 21 European countries, called upon its members, religious communities and upon all citizens throughout Europe to protect Sunday and make it work free.<sup>3</sup> They are putting pressure upon all shops and all commerce to close on Sunday for the health and safety of society. Here we see the labor unions use lobbying tactics to force the nations of Europe to protect Sunday as a day of rest. They are actually doing Rome's bidding. Rome wants the nations to implement Sunday sacredness through legal enactment (a Sunday Law) so that she can receive the honor and praise from the world. The final events are coming together.
